

May 12 2008

Well it seems like the rain while blessing us with some showers is going to remain in short supply.

Crop watering will soon be back to full pumping so please use it wisely.

We are still working on mapping all pivot and drip in the district and in our three counties. It is amazing how many new systems are going in for both ways of watering.

We are hoping for those with water meters on their systems to help us with trying to get a reading on how much water is being used. We can read the meters for you if needed or wanted but for now we have not set dates for taking the readings.

School will soon be out so please watch for the young ones out and about this summer. Have a great Memorial day weekend.

Finis Allen
Technician